Second call for papers

The Department of Written and Oral Expression of the Faculty of Liberal Arts at the Adolfo Ibáñez University invites academics, researchers, communication professionals, and postgraduate students interested in language studies, language teaching and digital humanities to participate in the V International PRISMA Conference, to be held, in-person or through a hybrid modality, on May 28, 29, and 30, 2024, in Campus Santiago and Viña del Mar.

Building on the success of the previous four editions, this fifth Conference, titled "Language and Artificial Intelligence: Linguistic Approaches and Interdisciplinary Challenges," encourages participants to explore the impact of Artificial Intelligence (AI) on language. As Chat GPT indicates:

Artificial intelligence (AI) has transformed the way we interact with language online. It has enhanced the understanding and generation of human language, facilitating automatic translation, autonomous text generation, grammar and style correction. It has also advanced voice recognition, improved online search engines, and enabled the generation of conversational content, as well as the personalization of online content. Despite this progress, challenges arise regarding privacy and linguistic biases that must be addressed responsibly.

In this context, participants are invited to reflect—from different linguistic perspectives and interdisciplinary approaches—on the scope, contributions, limitations, risks, and challenges posed by this new tool in various human domains, such as language, academia, sciences, philosophy, etc. Additionally, discussions are expected regarding topics on the multiple applications of AI.

The opening of this fifth version of the Congress will be held by Carolina Gainza, Subsecretary of the Ministry of Science, Technology, Knowledge and Innovation of Chile, as well as the participation of the guest panelists Lionel Bossi, Director of the Núcleo Inteligencia Artificial y Sociedad IA+SIC de la Universidad de Chile and Tomás Vera, foundation member of LIANM (Laboratorio de Inteligencia Artificial y Neurociencia y Metaverso) del Congreso Futuro.

Those interested in participating with a paper or thematic panel should submit an abstract, according to the type of proposal, by April 10, 2024, via email to: prisma@uai.cl, adding as message title "PRISMA Conference 2024."
